

Implied Consent Measure Nears Final Passage

LANSING (AP) — The House moved the controversial implied consent bill a step closer to reality Monday and passed measures boosting drivers license fees and state park entrance fees.

The House voted 76-18 in favor of a conference committee report resolving House-Senate differences on the implied consent measure, designed to crack down on drinking drivers.

The committee report now goes to the Senate for expected approval and then to the governor for signature.

The implied consent bill provides that a licensed motorist is deemed to have given his consent to submit to blood, urine, saliva or breath tests if arrested for driving under the influence of alcohol.

If a driver refused the test he would lose his license under terms of the bill, backed by Romney and Secretary of State James Hare.

In accepting the committee report, the House agreed to a Senate stand that refusal to submit to a chemical test should not be admissible in civil or criminal court proceedings arising from the arrest.

Should the driver refuse the chemical test, the bill requires that the arresting officer shall forward a report to the secretary of state including a statement that the driver refused to submit to the test on request of the officer and had been advised of the consequences of his refusal.

The department then is required to notify the driver that he has 14 days in which to request a hearing. If the driver does not request a hearing his license would be automatically revoked for not less than 90 days or more than two years.

The drivers license fee bill would boost the cost of licenses by 50 cents with the governmental unit issuing the licenses retaining the increase to pay for rising costs.

Under the measure an original drivers license would cost $5.50 instead of the present $5. Renewal would cost $4 for operators licenses and $3.50 for chauffeurs licenses instead of the present $3.50 and $3.

The bill to raise state park entrance fees, which passed 59-36 and was sent to the Senate, drew fire from several House members whose districts include state parks.

The House eliminated a Senate provision which would have boosted the daily fee for state residents from 50 cents to $1.

However, the House agreed with Senate proposals to raise the annual fee for residents to $3 and for nonresidents to $5. Both now pay only $2 per year.

In addition, nonresidents would be charged a daily fee of $2 instead of the present 50 cents.

Western observers believed the two Communist leaders would range over Vietnam, the Soviet position on the Middle East and Castro's opposition to the Soviet doctrine of peaceful coexistence with non-Communist nations.

Informed sources said there was no official word on how long Kossygin would remain in Havana, but indications pointed to at least another day.

Kossygin was greeted with little fanfare when he arrived Monday after his nine-day visit to the United States, which included two meetings with President Johnson. No crowds were waiting at the airport to greet the first Soviet premier to visit Cuba. There were no bands and no flags.

Castro, dressed in his usual olive green army uniform, was on hand along with President Osvaldo Dorticos, Foreign Minister Raul Roa, members of the Central Committee of the Cuban Communist party and foreign diplomats.

The airport was still steaming from an afternoon rain as Kossygin, dressed in a dark suit, stepped from his plane with his daughter, Ludmila Gvishiani, and a score of Soviet officials.

After shaking hands and posing for photographs, Castro and Kossygin got into a black sedan and drove off to a guest house in the once fashionable Marianao section of Havana.

The Cuban public was not informed of Kossygin's visit until after he arrived.

Deadline Friday: State Tax Solution Remains Elusive

LANSING (AP) — With the clock in Gov. George Romney's office ticking toward a Friday midnight deadline, solution to the state's pending fiscal crisis still eluded bipartisan negotiators Monday.

Romney and House Democratic leader William Ryan spent the day repeating old arguments so often that Romney suggested they could save time by referring to them by number.

Romney called the meetings in his office last week after the House, for the second time, failed to pass a tax-increasing fiscal package keyed to a 2 1/2 per cent state income levy. The two sides were to meet with the governor again today.

Thursday night, Romney and Ryan spent much of the time shouting at each other. Friday they calmed down and worked out all but two major segments of a bipartisan tax package.

The same two issues whether to tax corporate income at 5 1/2 per cent or more and whether to save each taxpayer a $3 sales tax refund—still divided the two parties today, despite hours of negotiations in Romney's office Monday.

Democrats and Republicans disagreed over how much of the new taxes the package would raise should be paid by business.

Democrats said business pays about 31 per cent of existing state taxes. They asserted saving business with less than 20 per cent of the proposed new levies would be unfair to individual taxpayers.

Romney and other Republicans said—and said repeatedly—that taxing business at that rate would hurt Michigan's competitive position in seeking new job-producing industry.

Last Friday, the two sides reached tentative agreement on other parts of a tax-changing program that would——Repeal the business activities tax and cut the intangibles tax.

—Tax cigarettes another three cents a pack.

—Return an estimated $38.4 million annually to local units of government.

—Levy income taxes of 2 1/2 per cent on individuals and 7 per cent on financial institutions, exempting the first $1,000 of an individual's income.

—Give relief from property and city income taxes according to a graduated scale designed to benefit smaller taxpayers the most.

Democrats have promised to steady between 15 and 20 of the 36 votes needed to pass the tax package — if Republicans can agree to a program acceptable to them and still master the rest of the votes.

Democrats, who Friday insisted on a 6 per cent corporate income tax rate, said Monday they would settle for 5.8 per cent. Republicans stuck to their 5.5 per cent proposal and warned they couldn't get enough votes from their caucus if that figure was boosted.

U.S. Official Believed Victim Of Execution

Radio Message Implies Death Was Reprisal

SAIGON (AP) — A Communist broadcast 12 days ago appeared to announce the execution of a U.S. aid official taken prisoner by the Viet Cong nearly two and a half years ago, the U.S. mission announced today.

The official is Gustav C. Hertz, 43, chief of the public administration division in Saigon of the U.S. Agency for International Development. His wife and four children live in Leesburg, Va.

A statement from the U.S. mission said the "language of the broadcast is not fully clear, but it implies that Gustav Hertz suffered the same fate as Sgt. Kenneth Roraback, who was executed on Sept. 26, 1965, as an announced act of reprisal."

In the air war against North Vietnam, Air Force, Navy and Marine jets flew 115 missions Monday and returning pilots reported a month of heavy bombing had knocked out the major rail yard at Kep, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi, adjoining a big MIG airfield and an electric power station.

Rusk, Gromyko Set Summit Followup

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. — Secretary of State Dean Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko plan a followup talk tonight on the major international issues passed down to them from the Gassboro summit sessions.

Since Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kossygin and President Johnson wound up their weekend conferences still far apart on big issues, their aides were unlikely to come up with any quick agreements.

Rusk and Gromyko were to dine at the Soviet U.N. mission and discuss such items as Vietnam, the Middle East crisis and ways to hold down the arms race. The proposed draft of a treaty to check the spread of nuclear weapons appeared to offer the best prospects for progress.

Treaty Gets Priority Johnson and Kossygin agreed to high priority for this treaty, which the two atomic superpowers propose to present at the 17-nation Geneva disarmament conference. U.S. sources said an agreed U.S.-Soviet text has been virtually completed.

On the Middle East issue the United States and the Soviet Union are still at loggerheads, with Kossygin demanding an immediate pullback of Israeli troops as a precondition for a peace settlement and Johnson saying a troop withdrawal should be tied in with a settlement.

Diplomats at the United Nations are seeking a compromise, and some predicted the General Assembly would recess in emergency session for two or three days next week to allow time for more negotiations.

The assembly ends its general session on the Arab-Israeli war Friday, and no resolution that could get the two-thirds necessary for adoption is in sight. As the debate drew to a close, Kossygin ended his visit to the United States and flew to Havana Monday to confer with Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro.

Hussein To Meet LBJ Eleven speakers were scheduled for the assembly debate today, including Ahmed Ben Bella of Algeria, Deputy Prime Minister Frank Aiken of Ireland and Mexican Minister Antonio Pacheco de la Torre and Nicaraguan Minister Mendez of Argentina.

Her husband, former Gov. George C. Wallace, is expected to be a third-party candidate for president next year.

King Hussein of Jordan, who addressed the assembly Monday, planned to visit President Johnson in Washington Wednesday. Jordan has received much U.S. economic and military aid and needs more to ease the effects of her losses in the war and the influx of Arab refugees from Jordanian lands occupied by the Israelis.

Hussein warned the assembly that there would be more fighting unless the United Nations condemned Israel as the aggressor in the war and forced Israeli troops back to the lines they held before fighting began June 5.

Patrick Lyndon Debuts, Press Gets 'No Comment'

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Home with her new baby, 19-year-old Luci Johnson Nugent says she really knows what happiness is now.

Beaming with pride, the President's daughter and her husband, Patrick J. Nugent, 23, introduced their 6-day-old son to the public as they left Seton Hospital Monday afternoon in the 95-degree Texas weather.

Fat-faced, pug-nosed, blue-eyed, and unperturbed by all the excitement, Patrick Lyndon Nugent, nicknamed "Lyn," came through his first news conference without any comment.

Lyn expressed two main wishes for little Lyn: "We want him to grow up in a peaceful world," she said. "To be the best of whatever he wants to be."

The Nugents conceded that as the President's first grandchild their son would no doubt be spoiled. "That's the prerogative of grandparents," said the father.

"I think we're almost beaten before we begin," Luci added with a smile.

"I thought I knew happiness on my wedding day, but I found

When the Nugents drove off in their green convertible, Luci handed the baby to her husband.

Mother and baby were discharged from the hospital with excellent health reports. Lyn checked out weighing 8 pounds 1 1/2 ounces and measuring 21 inches.

Luci said she has been reading many baby books but noted "that's not raising him 24 hours a day. I'm in for a lot of new experiences."

Delta Voters Reject College Tax Proposal

Millage for the construction of new buildings and for the operation of Bay de Noc Community College was denied by the voters of Delta County in a special election Monday.

The College Board of Trustees proposed that two mills be levied to support the operation of the College and to proceed this fall with a $2 million dollar building program.

The voters rejected the proposal two to one — with 1,042 Yes votes and 2,081 No votes cast.

Voters in only four precincts — Bark River Precincts 1 and 2, Cornell, and Engen townships — gave Yes vote majorities. All other precincts rejected the proposal, some with substantial negative votes of three to one.

'Wait And See'

Richard Rinehart, Bay de Noc Community College president, commenting on the election, said today:

"The vote indicates that there is uncertainty among the taxpayers because of what is apt to happen on the state level. They probably want to see what the state is going to do."

"The College will have to wait and see what the State of Michigan does with its tax plans and for the present, postpone any plans for extension of services.

"The next College Board meeting will be held on July 13. At that time it will be possible to study alternatives. In the meantime, the College will defer any new teaching appointments and new courses of study," Rinehart said.

Vote Was Light

The vote turn-out was termed light by election officials, who noted that only about 32 per cent of the county's registered voters went to the polls.

Interest in the election appeared to be slight in advance of Monday, but there also appeared to be a considerable percentage of older voters — no doubt owners of properties — among those who did turn out.

All registered voters, both owners and non-owners of taxable property, were eligible to vote. Unlike special taxes for local school bond issues, the Community College millage would not have expired within a specified number of years with the amortization of a bond issue, but would have continued indefinitely.

This factor, plus the uncertainty of taxation at the state level as noted by Rinehart, may have accounted in part for the voters' reaction against the college millage proposal.

The annual Miss American Legion contest will be held 8:30 Thursday evening at the Bark River Community Hall. All girls in the Bark River-Harris school district are eligible if they are single and between the ages of 16 and 23. They are to appear in street attire.

One of the three finalists selected Thursday will be crowned at the Fourth of July dance at the community hall and will reign at the dance as Miss American Legion. She will also compete in the U.P. State Fair Queen Contest.

Judging for the Bark River American Legion queen contest are Mr. and Mrs. John Greis, Escanaba and Mrs. Douglas Geline of Powers.

Anyone having any questions should call Mrs. Ed LeBeau 466-2263 or Mrs. Hector Larson 466-5597.

School Continues

The college Board in advance of the election had not suggested any alternative plan in event the proposal failed.

Undoubtedly the situation will be discussed at the Board's scheduled meeting on July 13. Presently the College is receiving a levy of one mill, approved by the voters at the time the school was established five years ago. This one mill revenue will continue, but it will not provide the funds necessary to meet rising operating costs.

About 1.65 mills of the proposed two mills proposal rejected on Monday would have been used for operating expenses, including salaries of instructors and administrators, heat, lights, instructional materials and so forth.

Pope Revives Deacon Rank

VATICAN CITY (AP) — Pope Paul VI today revived the permanent rank of ordained deacon in the Roman Catholic Church for both married and single men to help meet a shortage of priests.

In a document titled "Sacrum Diaconatus Ordinem" — the Sacred Order of the Diaconate, the pontiff carried out another major recommendation of the 1962-65 Vatican Ecumenical Council. It urged creation of permanent deacons to help in areas where priests are scarce.

The document was issued four days after a papal encyclical reaffirming the requirement that priests be celibate and rejecting demands that they be allowed to marry.

The deacons will be ordained ministers who can preach and confer some sacraments but not say Mass or hear confession, which only priests can do.

Those eligible for the permanent diaconate will be married men at least 35 years old, provided they have the consent of their wives, and single men at least 25 years old who must remain single after becoming deacons.

Fear Of Criminals

We didn't need the Presidential Crime Commission's report to tell us that we have a very serious crime condition in this country, but this 310-page report still is a shocker.

The dimensions of the problem of narcotics, organized crime, fraud, thievery and drunkenness are known to most persons, but the national state of mind which results from this huge failure of our system of morality and policing may not be so evident.

The Crime Commission found that one third of all Americans feel unsafe while walking home at night in their own neighborhoods. A University of Michigan survey found that the use of public libraries is declining because book borrowers are afraid to come out at night. Use of parks has been affected. Schools say it has affected PTA attendance.

The Crime Commission found that this condition of fear of assault, of rape, of mugging, of being robbed, is having a noticeable effect upon all Americans, including those who haven't been assaulted or otherwise made direct victims of criminals. They, too, have been victims because of their fears. They are having less social contact with other people.

Fear of crime becomes fear of any stranger and when this happens the social order is damaged. Distrust results: sociability declines, the streets and parks and other public places are shunned by the fearful and with this abandonment the public places become more dangerous because vicious elements take over. There are fewer people abroad, especially at night, so the public streets become a jungle where even the police must go in pairs for their protection.

Even those who venture out into this theater of fear are changed; they fear, too, and they have a lack of concern for others. They can see a woman being assaulted and pass on without giving aid because they don't want to get "involved." They think only of their own safety and so it diminishes, too, because safety is no longer the concern of everyone, with everyone willing to contribute to it.

We are all familiar with report of incidents in which people have been attacked and even killed while others looked on in dismay, doing nothing. We have suffered withdrawal. We are in society, but not of it. The situation works to the great benefit of the criminal. He can count on public indifference to help him, even if he is seen in the act of assault or stealing.

We may think, here in the Upper Peninsula, where there is so little crime, relatively, that this national disgrace is not a matter of our concern because it is a big city problem. And the Crime Commission did find that the fear of crime is greatest in city areas. It was also greatest among Negroes, since they're most often the victims of crime, and in women, both Negro and white, who are more fearful than men.

But crime has taken a toll of our liberties, here, too. When we are fearful to talk to strangers we have surrendered a part of our freedom; just as we have when we fear to venture out at night, or in strange neighborhoods, or when we have to lock up our homes like a safe.

The Administration has proposed a Safe Streets and Crime Control Act which would make $300 millions available to the states to combat crime.

One of the major steps in combatting crime is to strengthen our police establishment. Most public notice of the police recently has been of their efforts to increase their pay. They should be well paid, but the current trend of efforts to achieve this promises no accompanying improvement in the war on crime.

What's needed is a restructuring of the police departments in even small cities so that they recruit for their forces men of high quality and adequate schooling. These should be thoroughly trained and well paid and given a community backing and prestige that will support them in the effort to make the police more formidable than the criminals.

Our municipal concept of policing is still a relic of days when the robbers got away in a livery stable rig in too many cities. Crime is modern and our policing should be, too.

Wished Loner Role

By BRUCE BLOSSAT
WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Top Israeli told high American officials that if war came to the Middle East, they wanted to fight on their own and not appear the tool of this country and Great Britain.

Says a U. S. source: "They felt they had to demonstrate to the Arab world their determination and their ability to remain a viable state."

President Johnson and his principal aides basically accepted this Israeli judgment. The source adds: "We had a good evaluation of Israel's military power. We were comfortable about the Israelis' ability to take care of themselves."

The President's overriding fear was, however, that the Soviet Union would at some stage insert itself into any conflict and "drag it out." What was looked for was not general Russian military help but perhaps planes, pilots, technicians thrown in on the Arab side.

It was generally agreed at the White House levels that Israel was not prepared to fight a war of attrition, prolonged deliberately by the Soviet Union's intervention.

This prospect carried with it, obviously, the corollary prospect that the United States would have to jump in on Israel's side—with all the peril that would generate.

Throughout the long series of White House talks on the crisis, the President consequently was bent on pursuing a course that would keep the Russians militarily quiet in the Middle East. The quoted American source says on this point: "It would have been a signal diservice to Israel to put the Soviet Union in a posture where it felt it had to help the Arabs directly."

This concern, it is argued, explains the President's decision to "hang in the middle" and avoid strong espousal, military or otherwise, of the Israeli cause at this critical turn. The belief was that sophisticated, knowledgeable Israelis understood full well where basic U. S. sympathies lay and what we would do if Israel's national life were really endangered.

Much is now being made of the U. S.-Soviet "hot-line" talks which began June 5, opening day of the war, on the initiative of Soviet Premier Kosygin. Actually, private White House-Kremlin talks on the Middle East took place by other means before that event—though this reporter could not discover who made the first move.

The American argument, via hot line and other, was consistently to the point that it made no sense for either the United States or Russia to become directly involved in any fight of attrition, prolonged deliberately by the Soviet Union's intervention.

Until those talks made headway and the Soviets stopped gesturing with their Black Sea fleet in the Mediterranean, the

Saginaw News Blackout Kept Residents In Panic

By GENE SCHROEDER
Associated Press Writer

Fear gripped Saginaw. Panicky residents applied for gun permits, bought pistols in record numbers and kept them handy behind doors locked around the clock. Porchlights burned all night long.

Many believed a maniac was lurking in the shadows and could strike again. Two double murders had been committed under strikingly similar circumstances in a 48-hour period last February.

Yet despite the public's desire to know how the police investigation was proceeding, Saginaw County Prosecutor Robert Currie clamped a lid of secrecy on the case.

The fact that police had arrested two men in the case (they later were charged with murder) and believed their investigation was nearing completion was withheld from the press and the public.

"Let 'Em Sweat" "Let 'em sweat," one official told a newsmen who pointed out that many citizens were terrified over the prospect of further murders.

The prosecutor's action in imposing a virtual news blackout reflected the thinking of some Michigan lawyers in the so-called "free press - fair trial" controversy swirling around the case.

Their attitude stems in part from a recent U. S. Supreme Court ruling overturning the murder conviction of Dr. Sam Sheppard in the death of his wife in Cleveland.

Other Incidents Other incidents of news dimouts have been reported. In Cheboygan, the city attorney persuaded the city council to adopt a resolution restricting the release of police news.

In East Lansing, Director of State Police Frederick Davis issued detailed administrative guidelines imposing severe limitations on the information troopers were allowed to give to newsmen.

The order was quickly rescinded by Gov. George Romney after consultation with Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley and Davis.

All three said they recognized the important role "played by the communications media in achieving workable relationships and public understanding and support of law enforcement procedures."

Sheppard Decision The Sheppard decision has been cited by some as justification for clamping down on coverage of crime news because the high court ruled that the jurors were influenced by publicity when they should have been guided only by court evidence and argument.

But both Kelley and U. S. Appellate Judge George Edwards differ sharply with the extreme views of some attorneys. A set of guidelines proposed by a State Bar committee drew verbal fire from both officials.

Branding the proposal as a "dangerous scheme," Edwards said it would prevent lawyers, police and other officials from giving out information about such groups as the Mafia and the Ku Klux Klan.

Extraneous Reaction "No judge who participated in review of the (Sheppard) case advocated the strictures which are currently being contemplated," said Edwards at a meeting called to discuss the proposed rules.

"Justice (Tom) Clark's opinion for the U. S. Supreme Court did not rule that Dr. Sheppard was denied due process because of pretrial publicity."

"His opinion did not suggest secret court hearings in criminal matters. His opinion did not call for sanctions against a free press. His opinion did not suggest silencing lawyers for months or years prior to criminal trial."

Kelley, contending no rules were needed, called for a unified forum which would get all sides together on a regular basis for an informal, non-binding discussion of the question.

changed as a result of a meeting last month in Lansing of some 50 lawyers, news media spokesmen, prosecutors, police officers and judges.

The session was called to provide an opportunity for all sides to sound off, and the guidelines evoked heavy criticism from several speakers, including Edwards and Kelley.

William Ellmann, president of the state bar, said another discussion meeting will be called—probably in the next six weeks—and then the committee will submit its revised recommendations to the bar commissioners.

"The report will take into consideration all the various points of view," said Ellmann. "We'll probably suggest voluntary guidelines but somebody has to write them first, preferably the press."

"I am personally convinced that the news media realizes it has a responsibility in this area as well as the bar."

After the bar commissioners have completed their study of the committee report and if the voluntary guidelines require any change in the canons governing attorneys, the proposed canon change would be submitted to the State Supreme Court for its final stamp of approval.

"If the rules are approved, then I believe that some form of continuing committee setup between local area media representatives and the bar would be advisable," Ellmann said.

Although Ellmann declined to predict when the matter would be completed, another bar association source said he hoped the program conceivably might be wrapped up by Sept. 1.

A regular forum is needed, however, to tackle the few situations which have been disturbing either from the fair trial standpoint, or from that of the right to know, Kelley added.

New problems posed by the rapid advance of technology also need to be faced, he said.

Voluntary Basis But, Kelley emphasized, "We must meet this problem on a voluntary basis. I believe that legislation and compulsion in this area are detrimental and would be a tragic admission of immaturity."

Under the tentative guidelines drawn up by the bar committee, lawyers, policemen and judges would have been prohibited from telling newsmen among other things whether a suspect confessed, prior criminal records, identity of witnesses or their testimony.

Under certain circumstances, secret court hearings also could be held.

The proposed restrictions represented the opinion of "only a small segment of the state's lawyers," said Wayne County Circuit Judge Edward Piggins.

The rules, he said, would hurt not only the press but the public as well.

Clam Up Trend Newsmen in some Michigan communities have noticed a growing tendency on the part of police and prosecutors to hold back information.

"We ain't going to say nothing," seems to be the attitude of some, according to one mid-Michigan newsmen, who feels that some of the difficulty stems from Davids' short-lived directive.

The guidelines may have been withdrawn in less than 24 hours, but they were pursued and absorbed by nearly every state trooper in that short time. Consequently, it was pointed out, the man on the force knows how the boss views the situation even though his rules have been suspended.

Police Differ Newsmen also noted that the various state police posts seemed to have their own interpretation of what the Davids' directive meant, confusing the situation even more.

An expert calls a hand a "laydown" any time he feels that the hand will make it if played correctly.

Thus, today's hand is a laydown six-no-trump but we wonder about how many average players would actually bid and make this hand. Some might make only three.

The way to make three is to hold back the ten of clubs. An expert would attack the clubs at trick two by leading the queen and continuing with the 10. West wouldn't cover but the expert would rise with dummy's king anyway. East would show out and the club suit could be brought home any time. If South leads the three of clubs instead of the ten, he also finds out about the club break but can't do anything about it. The 10 will block the suit provided West is smart enough not to cover it with the jack.

The play for six is quite complicated. South starts by giving up a diamond or a heart. Let's say he gives up a diamond. Later on he handles clubs the right way but runs off all his high cards except one high heart before playing dummy's last three clubs. His discards on the last two clubs will be a low heart and low diamond and he will be left with two hearts. A high one and a low one. Dummy will be left with a low heart and low diamond and East with a head-ache. He will have to come down to two cards also and will either have to throw his last diamond or one of his two hearts.

As stated earlier the slam was a laydown but it is not really biddable because it depends on being able to run clubs and finding East with at least four cards in each red suit.

Commission Approves New Service Station

GLADSTONE — The City Commission concurred with the decision of the Planning Commission and voted to permit the Murphy Oil Co. to construct a gas station at the Southwest corner of Delta Ave. and 9th St., when they met in regular session Monday evening in City Hall.

The company had asked the commission to break curbing and the request was referred to the planning commission. The station will be constructed at the present site of the Rouman Building the former Rens Tavern and the Busy Bee Cafe.

The lone bid of Lloyd Sodergren and sons, Rte. 1, Escanaba, to repair and rebuild curbing on Delta Ave. at a cost of $4 per lineal foot was accepted. New curbing will be installed for $1.25 per foot, but Sodergren said the difference in cost is due to labor involved in knocking out curbing plus delays caused by traffic in the working area.

Area Delegates Attend VFW Convention

The 48th annual convention of the Veterans of Foreign Wars was held at Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., June 22-26. Memorial services were held on Thursday, and a parade followed on Saturday. The Pageant of Drums held on Saturday drew a capacity crowd.

The highlight of the convention was the election of officers held on Sunday. Pat Foley of Detroit was elevated to the office of State Commander and Ruby Brown of Battle Creek was elected to head the Department of Michigan Ladies Auxiliary.

Among the delegates attending from Escanaba were Commander of the Escanaba Post, Ernest Briere and Mrs. Briere, president of the Auxiliary; Mr. and Mrs. John Anzalone, Mr. and Mrs. Vern Sturdivant, Mr. and Mrs. George Choler, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Madalinski, Hilding Skoglund, Mrs. Milton Monson, Mrs. Pearl Dupont, Mr. and Mrs. William St. Jacques and C. C. Newell, 14th district junior vice commander.

Henrikson said the blacktopping equipment will be in the area the first part of July and that previously prepared areas will be blacktopped prior to the Delta Ave. project. If the city engineers agree to go ahead with the Delta Ave. resurfacing, this portion of the work will be done after the firm completes the work on the highway already contracted.

Concrete bids were not opened since curbing will be installed by contract.

Ordinance Adopted

In other business, the commission repealed weed ordinance 333 calling for cutting lots in platted areas and adopted ordinance 338 requiring all property owners in the city to maintain their lots during the summer months. They said no property in the city will be exempt from this cleanup.

Three bids were received on the Minneapolis Ave. property adjoining the city disposal plant. Bids were from Joseph Waeghe, $751; Herman Kinnie $1000; and H. J. Goodyer $1001.50. The commission voted to reject these bids as too low and set a price of $1500 to be offered by H. P. Goodyer as the highest bidder.

Goodyer proposed to build a home on his lot adjacent to the city property and needs this parcel, 220 feet deep with 60 feet of water frontage but no access to Minneapolis Ave. There was a difference of opinion among commissioners.

Mayor Ray Norton said that since the property was only of value to Goodyer he should be permitted to purchase it as the highest bidder. Commissioner Frank Stupak said the 60 foot water frontage was worth 15 to 17 hundred dollars since it contained approximately 1 1/2 of an acre or 13,200 square feet. However, the $1,500 sale was approved by a three to two vote with Mayor Norton and Commissioner Gene Key voting no.

No bids were received for dump trucks.

Repairs To Proceed

Henrikson opened a bid from Lloyd Sodergren and sons for repairs for a building in the industrial park. Total costs of repairs is $37,119. LaPine Brothers, Inc. are using the building for storage at this time but have agreed to vacate at the city's request. The bid was accepted after Henrikson told the commission nearly all the money was available from the industrial park improvement fund. He said $23,391 is available.

ready in the fund and $8,400 will be added this year from the 1 mill set aside yearly for this fund. The remaining $6,000 will come from the general fund surplus.

The commission voted to advertise for bids for a new power mower to be used at the city power plant. The city manager asked permission to consult with city engineers on establishing a grade level at the east end of Wisconsin, Michigan and Montana Avenues. This will be done.

Increased wages of the recreation director and head lifeguard had been omitted in the annual budget and the commission agreed to add the 5 percent increase to bring them in line with other city employees.

Fireworks Approved

Commissioner George Young requested the city spend $700 for fireworks on the Fourth of July. The city manager was asked to order them today.

Commissioner Stupak said young people were complaining that the city police were stopping all beach parties at 10 p.m. Henrikson said the action was taken since vandalism in the park was on the uprise with three picnic tables being burned last week. The city commission had set a policy last year when they had three cemeteries installed at the beach to permit beach parties until midnight as long as they were orderly this will be continued, but if vandalism occurs again the 10 p.m. curfew will be enforced. Commissioner Stupak and Norton said since summers were short residents both adult and young adults should be permitted to use beach facilities. Additional lights will be installed in front of and at the rear of the beach house.

recent executions by the Saigon government.

Captured In 1965

Hertz was captured by the Viet Cong Feb. 2, 1965, after leaving his quarters in Saigon on a motorbike. He had been in Vietnam for several years, advising the South Vietnamese on organization and administration of local government.

Two months after he was captured, the Viet Cong threatened to kill him if a terrorist sentenced to death in Saigon was executed. But instead of Hertz, the Viet Cong executed U.S. Army Sgt. Harold George Bennett, 25, of Perryville, Ark.

Two other American military men, Capt. Humbert Versace, 28, of Baltimore, Md., and S. Sgt. Kenneth M. Roraback, 33, of Fayetteville, N.C., were executed by the Viet Cong Sept. 24, 1965, in reprisal for executions of Viet Cong terrorists by the South Vietnamese government.

John Stuart, the press spokesman for the U.S. mission, said the reported execution of Hertz was "a matter of grave concern" to the U.S. government and a "cynical betrayal" of assurances by the Viet Cong of humane treatment to prisoners. He said any such reprisal execution was an explicit violation of Article 13 of the Geneva Convention on treatment of prisoners of war.

Fliers Rescued

The Phantom downed by the Chinese MIG17s over Hainan was en route to Da Nang after an overhaul in the Philippines and got off course due to a failure of navigational equipment, the Air Force said.

The MIGs jumped the Phantom at 30,000 feet, far above the clouds. The Air Force said the plane carried no bombs or ammunition and the fliers radioed a distress signal as they fled southward before parachuting from their crippled plane.

The fliers were Maj. J.C. Blandford of Sherman, Tex., and Lt. Jeremy M. Jarvis of Warren, Mich., both stationed at Da Nang. Rescue helicopters from U.S. 7th Fleet units operating against North Vietnam picked them up about 30 miles south of Hainan an hour after they ejected.

Meredith Plans Political Activity

OAKLAND, Miss. (AP) — The Mississippi highway march by James H. Meredith moved toward a new political dimension today as he planned to meet with Negroes to push voter registration and perhaps endorse candidates in state elections.

"I'm sure the people who are interested will cooperate," Meredith said Monday as he ended the third day of his renewed trek with little visible public response. "Others don't matter anyway."

Nursing a bothersome tendon in his left heel, Meredith covered 14.4 miles Monday and almost reached Oakland.

Prentiss Brown Needn't Read St. Ignace History: He Lived It

By JEAN WORTH

ST. IGNACE — Prentiss M. Brown is one of the giants of the Upper Peninsula and, in their tradition, he is a man of public life.

He is a lawyer and that's unusual. Chase Osborn was an iron hunter who became governor. Alexander Agassiz made the C&H mines in the Copper Country the richest copper sources in the world. Peter White at Marquette furnished iron for the Union in the Civil War and served in the Legislature. The Stephenson brothers, Ike and Sam, at Menominee, made millions in lumbering and Ike went to the Senate and Sam to Congress.

Prentiss Brown went to both and also served briefly as the director of the Office of Price Administration. His federal service capped a distinguished public career in Michigan, the more remarkable because he's been a Democrat all his life and for much of it the party was a consolation society in Michigan.

Early St. Ignace

He is pre-eminent in Michigan today because of his personal leadership in the building of the Mackinac Bridge without him it simply wouldn't have been built — but it is the cap and not the cost of a great career.

Past 78 — on June 18 — he looks out over the harbor of St. Ignace while dining with his attractive wife, Marion, and every part of it is filled with memories for him. Directly across, where yachts and work boats fill a slip beside the tanks that hold the jet fuel for Kincheloe Air Base's fighters and bombers, the Mackinaw Lumber Co. had its mill when St. Ignace was a lumbering and charcoal iron town and half the bay was covered by logs. The furnace was around the point and the ore dock — shortened and with its upper structure removed — is still there.

Industrial Leader

The Mackinaw Lumber Co. dominated the economy of St. Ignace for years. It was owned by Francis D. Stockbridge of Kalamazoo, who became a U.S. senator, and Otis R. Johnson. They moved their sawmilling operation from Singapore near Saugatuck at the mouth of the Kalamazoo River on Lake Michigan to the Upper Peninsula to get timber supply. Singapore is buried in the sand now.

They located 40 miles west of St. Ignace as the Black River Lumber Co. and in the early 1870s moved their mill to St. Ignace. Johnson's oldest son, Charles, went to work for the firm and when it cut out and moved to California to enter the redwood trade, he joined the Union Lumber Co.

Charles Johnson came back to St. Ignace in 1940 with the memory of a local beauty still in his mind and asked an old friend if she were still alive. "She's my cook," the friend said and a reunion followed, but it was a sorry one and Johnson wished that he had kept his romantic dream instead of seeing what time and a kitchen stove had done to a beauty.

Grand Hotel

The Mackinaw Lumber Co. — Mrs. Brown wishes they hadn't spelled it that way, because St. Ignace likes to spell in Mackinac unless you have in mind Mackinaw City of a mackinaw boat or coat — operated from the 1870s to the early 1900s sawing timber rafted down St. Martin's Bay from the mouths of the Carp and the Pine rivers.

The sawmill firm was first a partnership and then a corporation and it was financed by Peabody, Houghteling & Co. of Chicago. The Stockbridge "cottage" on Mackinac Island's west bluff is one of the big ones and Senator Stockbridge formed the First National Bank of St. Ignace, the Union Lumber Co. of San Francisco and, in company with Senator McMilllan of the Detroit & Cleveland Navigation Co. and the Michigan Central Railroad (later the New York Central) built the Grand Hotel on Mackinac Island. Stockbridge donated the land on which it was built.

Hotel Saved

The Grand Hotel, one of the most famed hostilities in the world, was built as an attraction for steamboat and railroad travel in the days before highway travel. The hotel had difficulties adjusting to new travel habits and in the depression it closed a season without paying all its bills for the first time. Prentiss Brown was named receiver. Gene LaChance, Joe Ballard and Stewart Woodfill each owned a third of it.

On the advice of his friend Eugene McDonald, head of Zenith Corp., Woodfill bought the hotel at receiver's sale, getting financing from a Lutheran insurance organization in Wisconsin. He has made a great success of the hotel, extending its season at both ends, and bringing in many convention groups from Canada as well as the United States to walk the longest verandah in the world and enjoy Mackinac.

MacDonald, who liked to visit Mackinac on his yacht "Mizpah" was a businessman and explorer who made a fortune as the first financier of automobile sales. He took the money he made in that and backed two bright young men who had an idea for radio manufacture, founding the Zenith Corp.

Was Bellhop

Prentiss Brown was a bellboy at the Grand Hotel for three years when he was a youth and the place was swinging with lake cruise business and summer guests off the New York Central. (He's how an official of the Arnold Line whose boats bring summer visitors to the island from Mackinaw City and St. Ignace.)

In his youth the Anchor Line's Tionesta, Octorora and Juniata stopped at Mackinac and other lines sent their cruise ships to the Fairy Island, including some fine Canadian vessels. "When I was a young congressman," said Brown, "I heard that Chief Justice Charles Hughes was on the Tionesta and I went down and shook hands with him and passed the time of day."

Congress Years

Those years in Congress blew up some historic storms. Brown was one of only 7 Democrats against President Roosevelt's devaluation plan and the only one on the banking and currency committee in the House. The government policy was attacked in a suit brought by Robert Taft (before he was a senator) because of the devaluation on B & O Railroad bonds which called for "payment in gold." They were depreciated from $6 to $4 by the devaluation, but the principle affected more millions than any lawsuit in history because it applied generally.

Brown's best remembered court incident was so memorable not because of billions involved but because of embarrassment. Frederick C. Wood, who was a Petoskey summer resort and a famed Supreme Court trial lawyer, was about four paragraphs from the end of an argument to the court when he attempted an emphasis which popped out both his upper and lower false teeth on the floor in front of the stern bank of justices.

Wittiest Senators

"He couldn't go on," said Brown. "The way that Chief Justice Hughes looked up a stop to any audible reaction. It was in the old Supreme Court Building."

Senator Vandenberg's great years as chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee came after Brown was gone from Washington. Vandenberg's was widely credited publicly with authorship of the bank deposit insurance legislation in 1933, but Congressman Henry Bascom Steagall (D-Alabama) chairman of the

LANSING (AP) — Motorists will log more than 611 million miles on state highways over the coming Fourth of July holiday weekend, the State Highway Commission estimates. Pictured at the House of Ludington Monday night before the session at the State Office Building, the commissioners are, from left, Louis G. Jarboe, Vincent E. O'Neill, Chairman Stanley G. Thayer, Philip G. Davidson and Joseph L. Wisniewski. (Daily Press Photo)

Neighborhood Tavern Is Going, Says Liquor Head

An Ann Arbor attorney and former state senator who was majority leader at Lansing in the first Romney term, says that one of the biggest problems of liquor control in Michigan as he views it is the state's growing resort business.

He is Stanley G. Thayer, the new chairman of the Michigan Liquor Control Commission which is holding its summer meeting in Escanaba.

A native of Grand Rapids and son of a Methodist minister,

Thayer said in the easiest fashion; some states have a much more difficult special order system. And we have the biggest boards—the largest number of brands of spirits.

"Michigan carries only fifth, pints and 10ths in spirits. We're going into a special order system July 1 which will make it much easier. The licensee won't pay for it until its delivered. Our vendors seem happy with our sizes of packages. It enables our vendors to carry more brands because they don't have to carry so many sizes of brands.

"The little neighborhood tavern is on the way out, I think. It isn't correlated with the neighborhood surrounding it. The need isn't related to the number of people and it is the number being serviced that should determine the propriety of the license.

Liquor On Sunday

"I would hope that in time we can approach the problem of liquor control with less emotionalism; maintain the excellent control factors we'd have but apply a rule of reason to changes.

"The pressure is strong for liquor sales on Sunday, especially in Detroit since the Canadians across the river went to it. Ontario now permits places that serve food to serve liquor on Sunday.

"It's a peculiar sort of thing. Some restaurants don't want to open on Sunday, but the convention trade needs good food establishments and to have them, generally speaking, you had to have a cocktail. So the pressures are ambivalent, because some restaurants don't want to open Sundays because help is hard to get and others don't want to lose the convention business.

Local Control

"This becomes a legislative decision and in keeping with that I'd say that the commission, generally speaking, has a great deal of respect for the local feeling in any given matter. If we're in a situation where the local city council feels a given way, we respect those feelings if they are those of the population.

"The current bill puts Sunday liquor sales on a county-wide basis. I think necessity is going to permit local municipalities to veto that sort of legislation.

"Policing is becoming a very severe problem. In college communities young people leave home and are emancipated at an earlier age and they're getting harder to recognize as to age. They aren't under supervision. The colleges are large. The problem is big.

More Temperance?

"There are some enforcement problems that are beyond the commission, illegal sales on unlicensed premises. They're handled by local authorities. We handle license violations. All licenses go back for approval to the local police and legislative body, except in Detroit, where the police department handles them for the city.

"Our population and the volume of liquor purchases are both increasing. I think we're about average in Michigan in

Cancer 'Epidemic' Laid to Smoking

WASHINGTON — The nation's top advisory panel on cancer says an "enormous man-made epidemic" of lung cancer has hit the country as a result of cigarette smoking.

The National Advisory Cancer Council said in a report to the U.S. Public Health Service that "more active steps" are strongly recommended to bring the epidemic to public attention.

And, the Council said, lung cancer is largely preventable if smokers would drop their habit.

The Council's report appeared to use somewhat harsher language in its description of smoking's role in producing lung cancer than that of the U.S. Surgeon General on smoking and health in 1964.

"The most striking increase in incidence and mortality," the Council said, "has been that for cancer of the lung in men, which is ten times what it was 30 years ago.

"In 1966 approximately 42,000 men and 8,000 women will die of lung cancer, a largely preventable disease for which cigarette smoking is largely responsible."

The Anti-Tobacco Center of America has just published a booklet which explains how 88,648 heavy smokers (of whom many are physicians) have stopped smoking without straining their will power. This booklet is available free of charge to smokers. All you need do, to obtain it, is to send your name and address to The Anti-Tobacco Center of America, Dept. 912-1, 366 Fifth Avenue, New York, New York.

This offer is open while the supply of these booklets lasts.

A lot of the time you won't even notice the best things about Gas air conditioning.

It's so quiet. You can drop off for a cool nap on the hottest afternoons. And because Gas air conditioning has reduced the moisture in the air and filtered out dust and pollen, you wake relaxed and refreshed.

If you already have a central Gas warm air heating system in your home, you're halfway there. It's easy to add central Gas air conditioning.

Then, with a flick of a thermostat, the same blower and ducts that send warm air to every room in your home in the winter, will deliver chilled, dehumidified and filtered air to your entire home throughout the summer. Gas air conditioning units have fewer moving parts, so they last longer, need less service and they're quieter, too.

When you install Gas air conditioning, you're entitled to our special, low air conditioning rate on all the Gas you use for all purposes, all summer long. If you buy now, you won't have to make your first payment till November. You can take up to five years on the balance.

Call your air conditioning contractor or call us. We'd like to show you why Gas makes the big difference, and costs less, too. A couple of things you'll notice right away.

Pasarell Pulls Major Upset In Wimbledon Play

WIMBLEDON, England (AP) — Charlie Pasarell, who didn't make the U.S. Davis Cup team because his record wasn't good enough, was the hero of Wimbledon today.

The 23-year-old Puerto Rican from San Juan upset the defending champion, Manuel Santana, of Spain, 10-8, 6-3, 2-6, 8-6 Monday and sent Wimbledon off to its most sensational start. Never before, since the All-England championships were started in 1867, had the champion been dethroned in the first round.

Inevitably, Pasarell has come into the reckoning for the title, which has been won by an American only once in the past 10 years.

"Well, if I didn't think I had a chance of winning Wimbledon I wouldn't be playing here," Pasarell said. "Grass suits me. I always play my best tennis on grass courts."

Wednesday he takes on another formidable opponent—Bob Hewitt, the Australian who is now a member of South Africa's Davis Cup squad. Pasarell and Hewitt have never played each other previously.

Pasarell, winner of the U.S. Indoor title for the last two years, has played most of his tennis this year on hard courts—and hasn't done very well.

That was why he didn't get into the act at Guayaquil last week, when the U.S. Davis Cup team was humiliated by little Ecuador.

Santana, full of good sportsmanship after his defeat, said Pasarell could be a man to watch in this year's tournament.

Rule Dooms New Turbine Racing Auto

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — The U.S. Auto Club refashioned the turbine engine formula Monday and closed the garage doors on the revolutionary STP "Turbocar" which almost ran away from the Indianapolis 500-mile field this year.

Andy Granatelli, president of Studebaker's STP Division and backer of the "Turbocar," called USAC's restriction of the air intake area of the turbine "an outright political method of banning turbine engines in American racing."

"There is no way to change this engine," Granatelli said, "and have it operate properly or safely."

Earlier he said if his car was outlawed by penalties impossible to meet, "the door is clearly open to ban any other mechanical or safety change which will contribute toward winning."

USAC's board of directors said the new formula would be effective Jan. 1, 1968. This permits the "Turbocar" to race the rest of this year, but no plans have been announced by Granatelli for other events.

The new plan cuts the air intake area to 15 square inches with no power increase. In effect, this would cut the engine's maximum potential to about 480 horsepower.

Under the present formula, the intake area is 23 square inches and allows STP's 550-horsepower Pratt & Whitney engine to compete.

Parnelli Jones of Torrance, Calif., was breezing ahead of the Indianapolis field May 31 when a gearbox failure forced him to the pits with 10 miles left.

A. J. Foyt of Houston, Tex., won the 500.

"I think they're making a terrible mistake," Jones said of USAC's decision.

"I admit we had an edge with the car this year," he said, "but it wasn't as much as an advantage as everyone thought. With the four-wheel drive, I could take the Fords and turbo-charged Offenhausers in the turns, but they could outrun me in the straightaways and about halfway through the corners."

Thomas W. Binford, USAC president, said the majority of the directors felt the change was in the best interest.

Information before the rules committee and findings of experts, Binford said, showed the present formula was too generous. He said it gave the presently-used turbine engine a distinct advantage over the conventional piston engines.

Binford said it is felt the new formula will bring the turbine engine more closely in line both in horsepower and torque, applied power, with the piston engine.

Paul Baynes, a General Motors engineer who served as turbine consultant to the directors, said it would take two to four years to develop a new turbine engine that would meet the new limits.

The cost of such a project has been estimated as high as $25 million, but more realistic guesses have set the figure at less than half that amount.

Kaline Tops All Stars In Vote Totals

BY JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Al Kaline of Detroit led the ticket with 242 votes today when Baseball Commissioner William Eckert announced the results of the poll of American League players, managers and coaches for the All-Star team to face the National League July 11 at Anaheim.

Kaline and Bill Freehan of the Tigers and the Robinson boys of Baltimore—outfielder Frank and third baseman Brooks—were the only repeaters from last year's starters. Pitchers and other squad members will be picked later by Manager Hank Bauer of Baltimore.

Rod Carew, second baseman of the Minnesota Twins, became the only rookie to make the club. Rico Petrocelli, Boston shortstop, also was picked for the first time. Harmon Killebrew of Minnesota and Carl Yastrzemski of Boston have been there before, but were not starters last season. There were only two left-handed batters—Yastrzemski and Carew.

Kaline received all but five of the votes he could possibly have polled, for players are not allowed to pick their own teammates. The American League had 273 ballots and Detroit contributed 26 of them. Thus Kaline got 242 of a possible 247.

Frank Robinson, the triple crown champ and Most Valuable Player in 1966, drew 239 votes, missing on only six ballots of a possible 245. Baltimore had 28 votes.

The number of votes varied, depending on the number of coaches and also on the number of players who had been in the league the required minimum of 30 days.

There were no close contests. The closest was Petrocelli with 122 to runner-up Jim Fregosi of California with 58, a margin of 64 votes.

It was interesting that Baltimore, Detroit, Boston and Minnesota each got two starters but the league leading Chicago White Sox didn't get one.

Freehan won in a breeze with 222 votes although a total of nine catchers drew votes.

Killebrew was the first baseman as expected by a wide margin over Don Mincher of the California Angels, Mickey Mantle, an All-Star many times in center field, drew only 10 votes as a first baseman.

Despite Brooks Robinson's off year he had 140 votes more than the next best third baseman, Max Alvis of Cleveland.

Under the rules as revised last year, the players vote for outfielders as a unit, not naming any position. Kaline, Frank Robinson and Yastrzemski were way out in front. Yastrzemski was third with 219 and Tony Oliva of Minnesota was fourth with 28.

The National League team will be to be announced Thursday and the rest of the squads later.

Blind Man's Bluff Pays Dividends For Stanky's White Sox

By The Associated Press

Ken Berry's game of Blind Man's Bluff has convinced Eddie Stanky that the hands sometimes are quicker than the eye.

Berry, suffering from an eye ailment, passed a Stanky eye examination to get into Monday night's game against Baltimore, then talked his way to the plate in the ninth inning before lashing a two-run single that gave the Chicago White Sox a 5-4 victory over the Orioles.

"Berry out-talked me for the first time in my major league career," Manager Stanky said after the slender outfielder's two-out, bases-loaded single brought the American League leaders from behind.

While Berry was blurring the Orioles' vision, rookie Bill Robinson, who came out of a batting trance when he threw away his eye-glasses, stroked three hits in a game for the first time as the New York Yankees trimmed Kansas City 5-2 for their fourth straight victory.

Elsewhere in the AL, Minnesota edged Boston 2-1 and California nipped Washington 4-3. Detroit and Cleveland were idle.

In the National League, the New York Mets topped Pittsburgh 3-2; St. Louis beat San Francisco 3-1; Los Angeles blanked Cincinnati 3-0 and the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 4-2. Houston and Atlanta were not scheduled.

Berry entered the White Sox' lineup as a defensive replacement in the eighth inning — after convincing Stanky he could see by reading numbers on the stadium scoreboard.

When his turn to bat came up in the ninth, however, Stanky summoned a pinch hitter from the bullpen.

"I can't let a blind man bat," the manager blurted.

Berry then came through with a winning argument. . . and the winning hit.

The White Sox had loaded the bases on Tom McCraw's single. Pete Ward's infield hit, a sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk. Jim King forced McCraw at the plate for the second out, setting the stage for Berry.

Robinson, who tried wearing glasses recently — without success — while battling a prolonged hit famine, drilled two singles and a run-scoring double against the Athletics.

The rifle-armed outfielder, acquired from Atlanta in the winter trade for Cleto Boyer, also threw out one runner at second base and held another at third with a bullet peg to the plate.

Since discarding the glasses and altering his batting stance, Robinson has hit safely in six straight games and raised his average 36 points to .159.

Tom Tresh, another sub-.200 hitter on the upswing, belted a solo homer and run-scoring single for the Yankees. The victory was marred, however, by the loss of catcher Elston Howard for at least 10 days. Howard fractured a knuckle on the ring finger of his throwing hand in the eighth inning.

Tony Oliva doubled in the fourth inning, Zoilo Versalles singled him home and Ted Uhlaender slammed a tie-breaking triple, lifting the Twins past the Red Sox. Al Worthington rescued winner Jim Kaat from an eighth inning jam and checked another Boston rally in the ninth.

The Angels ran up a 4-0 lead with the help of two run-scoring singles by Bob Rodgers, then held off Washington for their solo homer and run-scoring single for the Yankees. The victory was marred, however, by the loss of catcher Elston Howard CROSSING HIS BRIDGES, Rick Barry, has jumped from the San Francisco Warriors of the National Basketball Association to the Oakland team in the American Basketball Association. Barry, the NBA's leading scorer, was the first superstar to "jump" leagues. He rejoins his father-in-law, Bruce Hale, his coach at Miami (Fla.) university, who will coach the Oakland team. Pat Boone, the singer, owns the Oakland franchise. The financial terms reportedly call for a multi-year contract of $500,000.

Patty Berg Oldest, Miss Klass Youngest In Women's Tourney

HOT SPRINGS, Va. (AP) — One is named Patty Berg; the other, Beverly Sue Klass, and they'll share one thing in common when the $25,000 USGA Women's Open Tournament starts Thursday. Both are pros at the game of golf.

At the first tee Thursday afternoon, they will be separated by a mere 21 minutes—and a matter of 39 years, Miss Berg, a sentimental favorite, is 49—the oldest pro entered. Beverly Sue is 10—naturally, youngest.

Counting two withdrawals received Monday, they will be among 97 pros and amateurs in the field for the four-day, 72-hole open at the Homestead rolling, heavily wooded, par 71 Cascades course.

Those who withdrew were pro Ruth Jessen of Bonnell, Calif., and amateur Mary Wise of Clarendon Hills, Ill. Left in the field are 55 professionals and 42 amateurs.

Miss Berg, who plays only in selected tournaments these days in the twilight of a 27-year professional career that has produced 83 tournament victories, won the first Women's Open in 1946 at Spokane, Wash., but never has repeated as champion although she was runner-up to Betsy Rawls in 1957.

She too off in the opening round with last year's fourth-finishing amateur, Joyce Kuzmowski of Grose Ile, Mich. The wunderkind, little Miss Klass, goes off with amateur Rosemary Stevens of Miami, Fla.

Beverly Sue played in her first tournament as a pro in the $16,000 Dallas Civitan Open May 11. Shooting in the high 80s mostly, she hasn't won any money yet. No one expects her to win any here, but she's coming all the way from Thousand Oaks, Calif., to compete.

Headed by such favorites as leading money winner Kathy Whitworth, Carol Mann, Mickey Wright, Clifford Ann Creed and defending champion Sandra Spurzich, the pros began arriving at this fashionable mountain resort Monday from last week's Buckeye Savings Tournament at Cincinnati. All planned to take practice swings at the 6,191-yard Cascades today.

Skip Zimmerman Leading Seagull Class Standings

The first seagull class boat race of the season was held Sunday off the Escanaba yacht harbor.

The first race of the first series went to Skip Zimmerman and Tom Lewis; second place, Paul Bissell and Dave Lark; third place, Henry Van Brussel and Walt Zimmerman; fourth, Terry Reynolds and Sam Lark, sailing Steve Maki's boat.

The class standings are Skip Zimmerman 4½, Paul Bissell 3, Henry Van Brussel 2, Steve Maki 1. There is a protest pending between Henry Van Brussel and Skip Zimmerman which could change these standings.

Next race will be 6:30 Wednesday.

The local sailors are preparing for the third annual Escanaba Regatta to be held July 8-9 which will draw entrants from all over the Green Bay area.

The sailing school is teaching another 25 members the art of sailing in the El Toro class. They will hold races later this summer in the yacht basin.

Two Injured In Accident

A Wexford, Mich., man, Keith Peterson, 46, was given a summons for violation of the basic speed law after an accident Saturday afternoon in which his camper overturned on U.S. 2 in Manistique Township while trying to pass at the site of a 4-car accident.

State Police said Peterson's wife, June, 46, and son, Ronald, 20, received minor injuries when the camper overturned. Both were taken to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital.

The 4-car accident began at 12:40 p.m. when a car driven by Kenneth Michaelson, 41, of St. Croix, Wis., hit the third car in a line at the intersection of U.S. 2 with County Road 433.

The Michaelson car drove a car driven by Francis Phillips III, 20, of Louisa, Va., into a car driven by Margaret Kearns, 54, of Hartford, Conn., pushing it into a stopped car operated by Esther Powell, 51, of Rte. 1, Manistique.

In another weekend accident, Louis Tebo, 83, of Manistique, traveling east on the Golf Course Road, collided with a car driven by Allen Demers, 32, of 206 N. 5th St. Tebo was given a summons by State Police for failure to yield right of way. The accident occurred at 6:35 p.m. Saturday at the intersection with M-94.

Woman, 46, Held In Murder Case

REED CITY (AP) — Edith Thompson, 46, of near Hersey, was held at the Osceola County Jail Monday on a charge of murder in the shooting death of Robert Thompson, 49, also of near Hersey. State Police said the shooting occurred Monday at the woman's home. She demanded examination, but no date was set. State Police said the woman and Thompson were divorced.

Squabble Ends, Detroit To Get Fluoridated Water

DETROIT (AP) — After five years of public squabbling, 64 communities in southeastern Michigan will get fluoridated water.

"Barring unexpected developments," the new water will start flowing into homes Aug. 1, Gerald J. Remus, general manager of the Detroit Water Supply Department said Monday.

He said the heaviest concentration of the water will be in the Detroit area.

Citizen opponents have twice forced the fluoridated water issue on the ballot.

In 1965 and again in 1966, Detroit-area voters approved fluoridation.

But the Greater Detroit Citizens Committee Opposed to Fluoridation fought the use of the chemical.

Health experts say fluoride reduces tooth decay.

Fluoridated water has one part fluoride to every million parts of water.

Remus said that licensed chemists will control the blending process.

Blind Puppy Has New Home

DETROIT (AP) — Little blind Queenie has found a home and some new friends.

The sightless Springer Spaniel moved in with the William H. Swank family in suburban Northville Township Sunday.

The Swank's home is nestled among some hills on a two-acre lot. Mrs. Swank said, "This is the ideal place for Queenie. There's lots of space for her to run and there is no danger from cars."

Queenie was abandoned a week ago in a Detroit church. Around her neck was a note saying, "I can't see what is going on in this world. Please help me find a home, and some children to play with."

The Humane Society turned the dog over to the Swanks after screening several hundred of others which came in from around the country.

Window Falls, Boy, 3, Killed

FENTON (AP) — A three-year-old Fenton boy was killed when the window he was trying to sneak out of dropped on his neck.

The boy's baby sitter found Scott Price hanging from the window Sunday.

His father, Paul Price, said the boy had frequently played hooky by sneaking out of the window. To stop this, he said he had put a stop on the window, but it still opened wide enough for the boy to sneak through.
